Historical Note:

Henry Manter, born in West Tisbury in 1816, was one of six children of Thomas and Hannah (Luce) Manter. His father died of drowning in 1821 when Henry was only five. Six years later, at age 11, Henry went to sea. By the age of 20 he was captain of the Portsmouth, NH whale ship Pocahontas. He would spend most of his life crossing the world’s oceans, either as whaling master or merchant captain. After his first command he came home long enough to marry Mary C. Luce of Chilmark in 1843. A few months later he went back to sea, this time on another Pocahontas, out of Holmes Hole. Despite a heartfelt letter to Mary in October 1844, proclaiming he would never leave home again, Henry went on to command another whaleship (Virginia), and five merchant ships (America, Anglo Saxon, Samuel Robertson, William Wilcox, and Marianne Nottebohm), not retiring until 1873.

Like many sea-going men Henry missed much of his children’s early years. His first son, Henry Jr. was born in 1847, one month after Henry left on his four year whaling voyage on Virginia. His second son, Ellis was born in 1856. Henry missed his sons, and sent them fatherly advice from afar. In 1864 he wrote Henry Jr. to “stick close to your school and learn all you can”, and to speak kind to his brother and help him with his studies. Henry’s last voyage on the Marianne Nottebohn was less lonely; Mary joined him for at least part of this trip (1870-1873), traveling from New York to San Francisco, then on to Australia and back to San Francisco. Mary may have joined him on the final leg of this voyage, from San Francisco crossing the Atlantic to Ireland, then returning home in 1873. Finally at age 57 Henry settled down with Mary on William Street in Holmes Hole until his death February 17, 1879.
Scope and Content Note:
The 1.5 cubic feet of documents are arranged chronologically within their series. These documents are primarily original letters between Captain Henry Manter and his family and business associates. The bulk of the personal correspondence covering the years 1843 – 1866 are letters written between Henry and his wife Mary while Henry was at sea. Many other letters may have been written, but never received given the difficulty of locating a ship at sea. Mary simply addressed her letters to the ship and the ocean, such as Ship Virginia, Pacific Ocean. A few letters and postcards exchanged between other family members are included in this collection, (1841-1913) along with a diary kept by Henry’s son Ellis in 1875.

The business correspondence collection spans from 1842 – 1871. Some of these letters are from former crewmen, often requesting a place on a ship. Many are correspondence between Henry and Howland & Frothingham regarding freight and cargo issues, (1870-1872). Other business papers include a few telegrams, receipts, and invoices. Also included are Henry’s merchant ship log books from his voyages on the America, Anglo Saxon, Samuel Robertson, William Wilcox, and Marianne Nottebohm. The MVM also has in their collection the log book from the whaling ship Virginia 1847-1851 (#96)
